ArcBlue Search

ArcBlue Search is a specialist recruitment service for the niche functional areas of supply chain and procurement. We help you find and manage the best talent.

What makes us specialists? We are a procurement and supply-chain consultancy firm first, so we understand the skills required to deliver high-calibre procurement talent for your company. We speak YOUR language.

In today's tough marketplace, ArcBlue Search follows a dynamic process and takes the time to understand your unique business, role and team requirements.

We can find the right person for you by leveraging our extensive procurement networks and using a combination of research, referrals, and analysis.

ArcBlue Search uses robust search and selection techniques with a focus on individual and team capability to improve productivity and performance.

We deliver:

-  Insight into procurement roles delivering a best fit for the role and your organisation,
-  An agile approach to the recruitment process,
-  In-depth candidate assessment using pQ, the global standard in procurement capability assessment,
-  A faster rate of engagement through established networks and talent pools,
-  Overall capability uplift for the team, improving knowledge and skills for your business, and
-  Highly skilled research and recruitment professionals.
